Invitation

Australia’s next national conference on adapting to climate change -- Climate Adaptation 2018 – will be held in Melbourne in May 2018.

We are pleased to offer your organisation the opportunity to participate as a conference sponsor.

About the event

This is the sixth conference that the National Climate Change Adaptation Research Facility (NCCARF) has organised. The National Climate Adaptation Conferences are the major Australian forums focused exclusively on climate vulnerability, impacts and adaptation. We expect the 2018 event to attract between 400 and 500 practitioners and researchers from across Australia to share experiences and showcase activities, strategies and research.

Contact us

On the following pages, we outline some of the opportunities available for sponsorship. These opportunities are examples of what is available. If you would like to discuss other opportunities contact our conference organisers
